

SANDER HICKS

www.sanderhicks.com

347 446 4461 (cell)

347 627 4705 (home)

Entrepreneurial, maverick, executive catalyst.

CEO & FOUNDER

Vox Pop, Inc.

JULY, 2003 – JANUARY, 2009

- Built a fun, community-empowering, fair-trade, live-events-oriented, coffee-house company, with a 2008 valuation over $2.6 MM.
- Achieved aggressive annual sales growth, with guerrilla marketing techniques, great web content, buzz, niche-marketing, and a profitable, 50,000 unit print-run, tabloid newspaper, The New York Megaphone.
- Lead the 2007 acquisition of Long Dash, LLC, and launched sideline print-on-demand business, “Publish Yourself!”
- Achieved gross margins of 86% on our main product, fair-trade coffee, in 2008.
- Earned profitability in three years, with annual earnings of $46K on sales of $354,472.
- Featured in indie film-noir “Able Danger” which featured our Vox Pop Brooklyn café.

CEO & FOUNDER

SOFT SKULL PRESS, INC.

JANUARY, 1992 – SEPTEMBER 2001

- Published over 75 paperback and hardcover books to critical acclaim. Authors included Michael Stipe of band REM, and Jim Hatfield, author of Fortunate Son, the controversial biography of George W. Bush.
- Appeared on “60 Minutes” and in the acclaimed documentary “Horns and Halos,” the tumultuous story of publishing Fortunate Son.
- Built an e-commerce engine with $90K in sales in 2001-2002.
- Raised capital through private placements.
- Acquired the lists’ two bestsellers: Nowhere Man: The Final Days of John Lennon and Dance of Days: Two Decades of Punk in the Nation’s Capital.

LANGUAGES

- Semi-fluent in French
- Expert in Quark, Photoshop and Dreamweaver

AWARDS

- Won the Firecracker Award for Outstanding Independent Press of the Year, 2001.
- Admitted member of playwright’s house, New Dramatists, NYC.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

- I have lectured at Stanford Law School, NYU, Cornell, University of Louisville, Humbolt State, the American Society of Journalists and Authors, and at Book Expo America.

EDUCATION

B.A., Writing and Literature, May, 1993, GPA: 3.7
New School University, New York City

BUSINESS MENTORSHIP

AUGUST, 1991 - JULY, 1997, Kinkos of Manhattan
Under Managing Partner Stuart Bagwell, I learned to run aggressive, high-growth companies. We went from one store to seven during my time there.